

NIMAPARA AUTONOMOUS COLLEGE

Department:

❖ PROGRAMME (U.G) COURSE OUTCOME(with in 500 words):

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY
The course outcome of the subject

The course is designed to provide the student of basic understanding of the psychology of human behavior. The students were learned the human growth, differentiation and orderly progression. They gain knowledge about the concept, terminology, principle and theories relating to each of mental processes. The students were gaining the power to control and modulate changes in one's life those are considered important to one's identity and adjustment. The course helps the students to understand about the fundamental of statistics and research methods for using research problems in psychology. It helps the students to tackle the situations we encountered in everyday life. The course is designed to introduce the students about natural environments, social settings and informational environments. The students are exposed to the concepts of mental illness and treatment of psychological disorders. It also improves the student's knowledge about classroom management, gives information about organisational systema and work behaviour. It also addresses to the role of behavioural factors in health and illness, understanding about the behaviour and attitudes in the professional counselling.

Anjana Mohanty
HOD in Psychology